This is part #9 of the No Cost Product Launch system. In this part, we are going to discuss affiliate recruitment. This is where you are going to go out there and recruit affiliates to sell for you. This is quite possibly, other than learning to create good sales copy, one of the best activities you can do for more sales.

JV Zoo really does simplify this process for you by creating a page where you can send affiliates to. You can send potential affiliates for them to sign up and to start promoting your product. The more affiliates you have on board, the more traffic you get and the more sales you gain. You also get more targeted visitors.

You can also set up a list at www.listwire.com if you would like to of your affiliates. You can create a squeeze page for a free offer. You can do the same thing for your affiliates to that page so you can get them on an updated list. You can send them to a free page on your blog or launch too if you want. You can set this up for free through Blogger if you choose to do that strategy.

We recommend you start out using the free tools that are offered on JV Zoo. They offer a very good way to get out there and launch your product. Next, we will cover some tools you can use to recruit your affiliates within JV Zoo.

Go to your JV Zoo account and login. You will be able to go into the marketplace and to your seller dashboard. There you can see the product you set up in previous steps. Below the product you will see Affiliates Details Page.

At the top, you will see your affiliate link.

That is the link you provide to affiliates that will promote your product. Again, you can also do this for free at www.blogger.com.

In step #9, we will cover multiple ways you can go about more affiliates to promote for you. Here are some methods you can use to get affiliates on board. Product launch announcement sites. This is a really quick and easy way to get information out there about a launch. You can go to:

- www.muncheye.com
- www.jvnotifypro.com
- www.imlaunchr.com
- www.theimstockexchange.com
- www.jvlaunchcalendar.com

You can get your product listed on each of them for free. They all have an upgraded, paid option too that you can consider. You can do that, but obviously this is all about No Cost Product Launch. No cost marketing, starting your business without investing any money. You can go to any of these product launch sites and get results.

You can also do a Google search for “product launch calendar”. You can post your launch information on them and find affiliates that are hanging out. Their internet marketing options cover all types of areas of products. You can get your product exposure to affiliates on any of these websites.

You can also do a search for Clickbank launch boards. Do so digging and some searching around. I definitely recommended that you pursue this further. You can also set up a Facebook page for your affiliate links. You can include your own Wix page or other items, depending what you want to set up. A Facebook that targets your niche and affiliates helps you to find the big players in your industry. You can also send private messages to get to know them better.

You can also recruit JV's from relevant groups or by previous launch boards. There are many Facebook groups that have launches to them. Skype is free software and a great way to communicate with people. You can use it on your computer or your phone or both. You can reach out to affiliates through Skype. It is worth the effort to try to reach out. There are groups you can search for on Skype that have launch boards.

There are product boards, Facebook pages, Skype, and anyone that you can find out there that may wish to be an affiliate for your product. You can friend request and follow affiliates that you have targeted. You can look them up on Google Plus. Interact with them on social media and retweet their blogs. These are all methods that allow you to connect with others through social media.

This is a significantly underutilized strategy out there. The number of ways you can recruit affiliates are endless. You can use private messages to introduce yourself. You can use LinkedIn to share what you are all about. There are so many ideas out there that get you exposure.

Press releases are another good way to get affiliates. You can use a press release site to help you gain their interest. You can also Google “submit press release free online” and learn how the process works. You can post videos on YouTube about your upcoming product launch. You can post your link too so that those that are interested in being affiliates can click on it.

I forgot to mention and point out anyone on Clickbank that sells is a possible affiliate. You can go through many channels to connect with them. You can go to the Contact Us feature or you can click on their email. Go to article directories such as EzineArticles and contact those that are writing articles in your particular niche. You may have to complete their opt in form to get their contact details.

Really, it is all about put your nose to the grindstone and doing what it takes to connect with affiliates. If you are brand new, you may need to spend lots of time finding affiliates. In the end, that payoff is going to be good though. You are going to see that you have made some success. You know who your top affiliates are so that makes it easier the next time around.

This is a big part of how you scale it up to make sure you can start to make money. You can take it to the next level if you start to recruit affiliates. It is going to take some effort, but it is really about investing time. It is about rolling up the sleeves and getting out there. It is hard work, but it doesn't cost you anything to go out there and recruit affiliates. If you aren't doing it, you are leaving the potential for making lots of money on the table.
