In this lesson, I am going to show you step by step how to build a free blog. You can actually use these free blogs to generate traffic for yourself. You can also use the blogs to create your own website. You can actually build your affiliate site on Blogger.com. You can also do your list building and send out your affiliate link.

You just need to be careful as this is a free solution, so is Wix.com. At any point, they can change what they offer and they could shut you down. The great thing here is you are you going to learn all the traffic methods. You are going to learn how to do all of this for free. Then you can upscale when you start to make some money.

I am going to show you how to make your first blog. You want to go to www.blogger.com.

If you already have a Google account you will be taken to screen that looks like the one in the example. Click on New Blog. For example, our blog is all about golf improvements. You want to come up with a good title for your niche market.

It will tell you if the title is available. Once you get one that works, you can choose a simple template. Go to Create a Blog. That is all you have to do, it is very simple. It does integrate automatically with Google Plus.

The screenshot shows a 'Blogs List > Create a new blog' dialog box. It has a title field with 'Improve Your Golf Score', an address field with 'improvegolfscorenow .blogspot.com' and a blue checkmark icon, and a template selection area. The template area shows six options: Simple, Dynamic Views, Picture Window, Awesome Inc., Watermark, and Ethereal. The 'Simple' template is highlighted with a blue border. Below the templates, it says 'You can browse many more templates and customize your blog later.' At the bottom right, there are 'Create Blog!' and 'Cancel' buttons. A mouse cursor is pointing at the 'Create Blog!' button.

Golf slicing is one of the most devastating shots in golf and with so many potential golf slice cures, tips and solutions on offer it can feel like it is one of the hardest to cure. In the end most golfers will give up trying and accept that slicing the ball is just going to have to be part of their game.

It doesn't have to be like that though, if you can rid yourself of the dreaded golf slice, you will start hitting the ball further, shooting lower scores and more importantly having much more fun out on the golf course. Try my top 3 golf slice cures below to see if they can make the difference.

Top 3 Golf Slice Cures

Golf Grip - this is one of the most fundamental reasons why golfer's slice the ball, if you golf grip is too weak, i.e. where the hands are rotated too far on the grip in an anti-clockwise direction at address, the likelihood is that during the motion of your swing your hands will correct themselves and adopt a more neutral position.

This causes the club face to be open at impact. Try making this adjustment at setup, by rotating your hands clockwise, so they adopt a more neutral position, this will ensure that you keep the club face square throughout the entire swing.

you keep the club face square throughout the entire swing.

Alignment - most players who slice will set up with an open stance, with their feet, hips and shoulders aligned left of the target line. The natural tendency if you are hitting the ball with a left to right curve is to progressively aim further and further left to compensate. This is only going to make the problem worse! Make sure your feet, hips and shoulders are all parallel to the target line at address

Full Shoulder Turn - by not making a full shoulder turn during your backswing, you are setting yourself up for an over the top or outside-to-in swing path, which is a sure way of encouraging the slice! If you can make a full 90 degree shoulder turn by the top of your backswing, you are going to be a lot better off that slice.

Hopefully the above golf slice cures will help you hit that ball a little straighter in future. Just remember that there are many other factors that can cause a slice, and they are an open club face and an outside-to-in swing path.

If you are looking for a fully comprehensive guide to golf slice cures that guarantees to fix your slicing problems permanently, visit my website and learn how this

If you have the article on your computer or you use someone else's article, you will need to copy it and then paste it into Blogger.com. The formatting may be changed when you paste it so you will need to play around with it and make sure it looks nice. Again, give credit where it is due if you use someone else's article. You also want to keep their links in place.

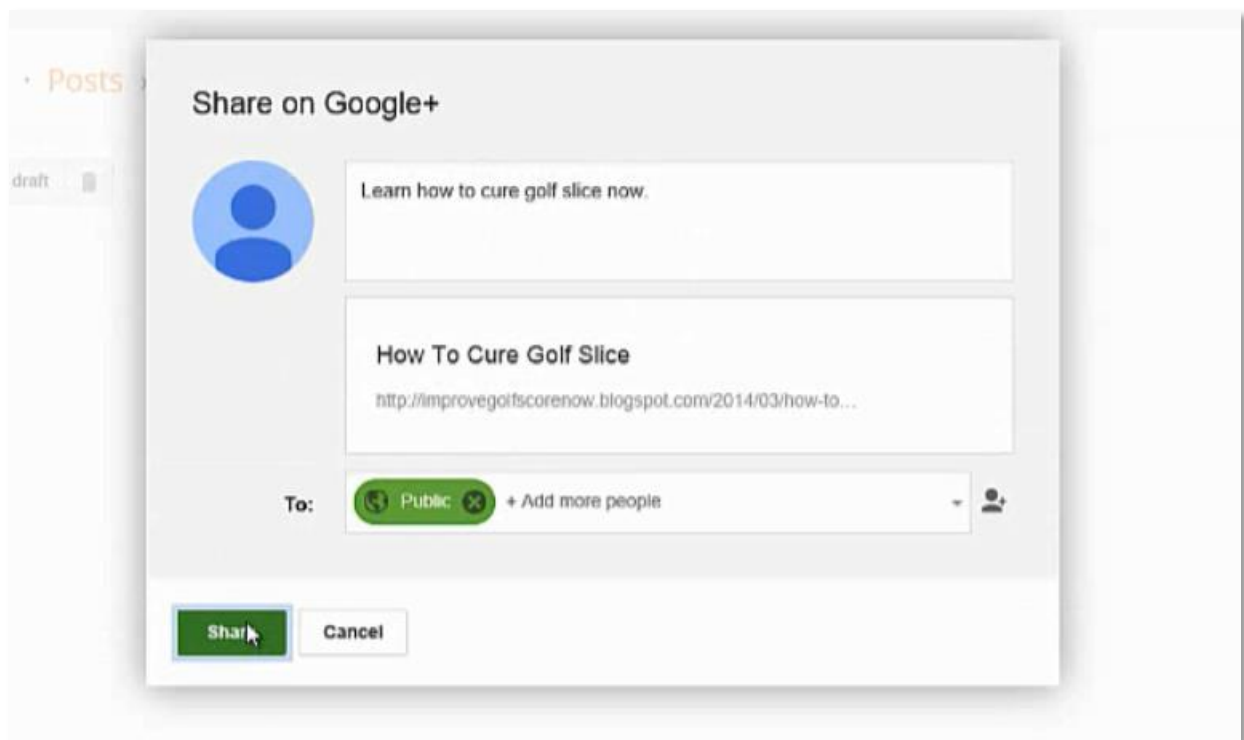

It isn't advisable for the long term to get into the habit of using someone else's content. You want to get into the habit of writing your own. You can use theirs to start though to get some filler content for your blog.

Click Save and Publish.

You can automatically share it to Google Plus

You should start getting some traction from this blog post. If you open up a window on that blog, you can click on it and refresh. The next thing you want to do is add in some content above that article. You can do that to brand it. If you use someone else's article, you can say something about why you like it or why you used it on your blog.

You should also have your affiliate link incorporated in the articles that you place on your blog. That is how you are going to be making sales. Go to www.clickbank.com and find any product you want to promote.

The screenshot displays the ClickBank Marketplace interface. At the top left, the 'MARKETPLACE' logo is shown with the tagline 'Choose from thousands of great products to promote'. A search bar on the top right contains the text 'Find Products: how to break 80'. Below the search bar, a sidebar on the left features an advertisement for 'pytch' (ClickBank's High-Performance Mobile Monetization Service) and a 'Resources' section with a 'Recently Removed' link. The main content area is titled 'Results' and includes a 'Marketplace Help' link. It shows 'Displaying results 1-10 out of 226 (pg. 1 of 23)' and 'Results per page: 10'. A 'Sort results by:' dropdown menu is set to 'Keyword Relevance'. The first search result is for the 'Official How To Break 80(tm) Golf Instruction Program', described as a 'Best-selling Ebook And MP3 Files For All Golf Skill Levels'. It lists two offers: 'On Same Page ($37 And $47)' and 'New Upsell Provides Great Conversions. New Line Of Dvd's Earn 30%'. The URL 'http://www.howtobreak80.com/affiliate_tools.htm' is provided. To the right of the product description, the 'Avg $/sale' is listed as '$29.16' in green. A 'PROMOTE' button is visible below the product details. At the bottom of the result, statistics are shown: 'Stats: Initial $/sale: $29.16 | Avg %/sale: 70.0% | Avg Rebill Total: $0.00 | Avg %/rebill: 1.0% | Grav: 5.15 | Cat: Sports : Golf'.

You will notice that your blog now has a unique title, your own paragraph that describes it, the article, and your affiliate link. That is very smooth and comes together nicely. Inside of Blogger.com there are plenty of possibilities. You can add pages to your blog, you can change the layout, you can play with the templates.

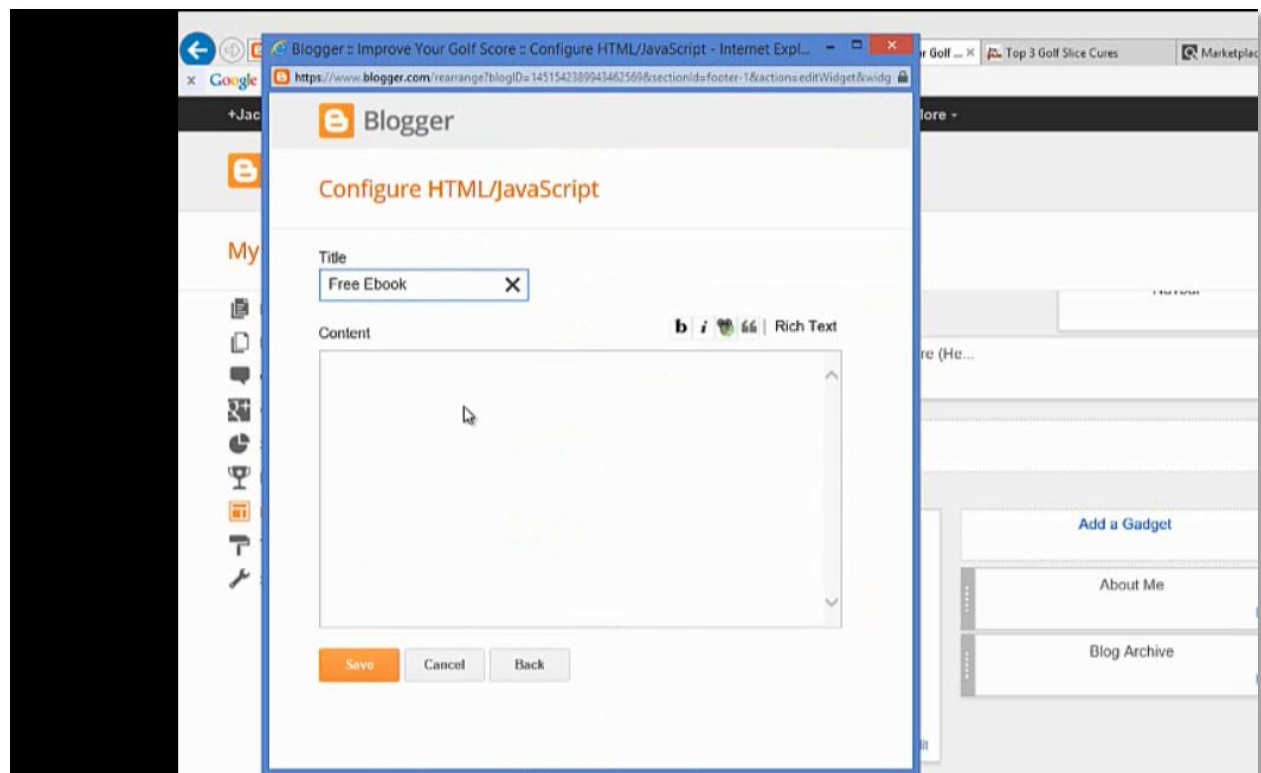

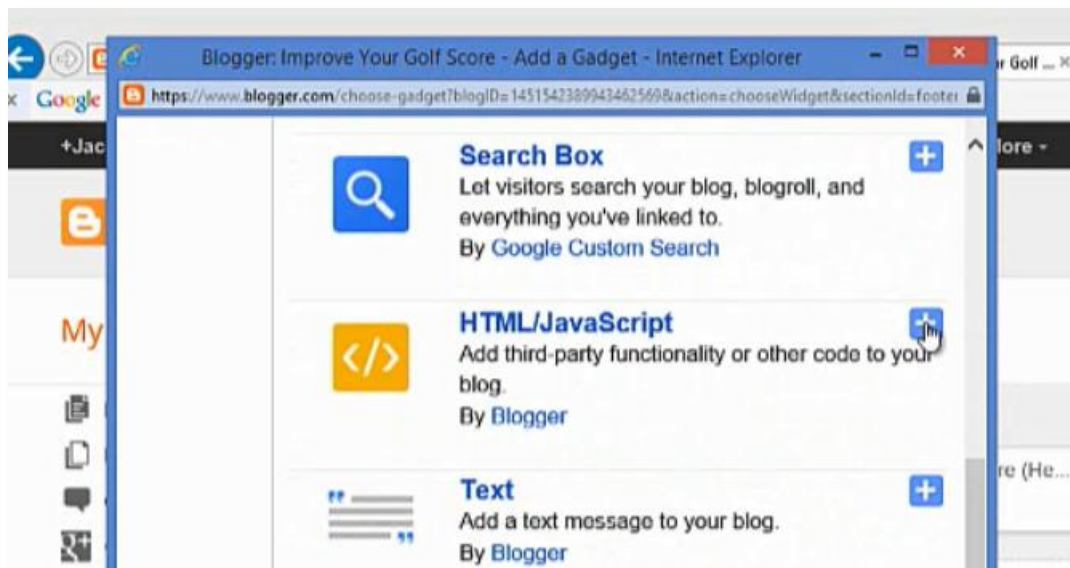

You will notice that there are many layouts to consider with the templates.

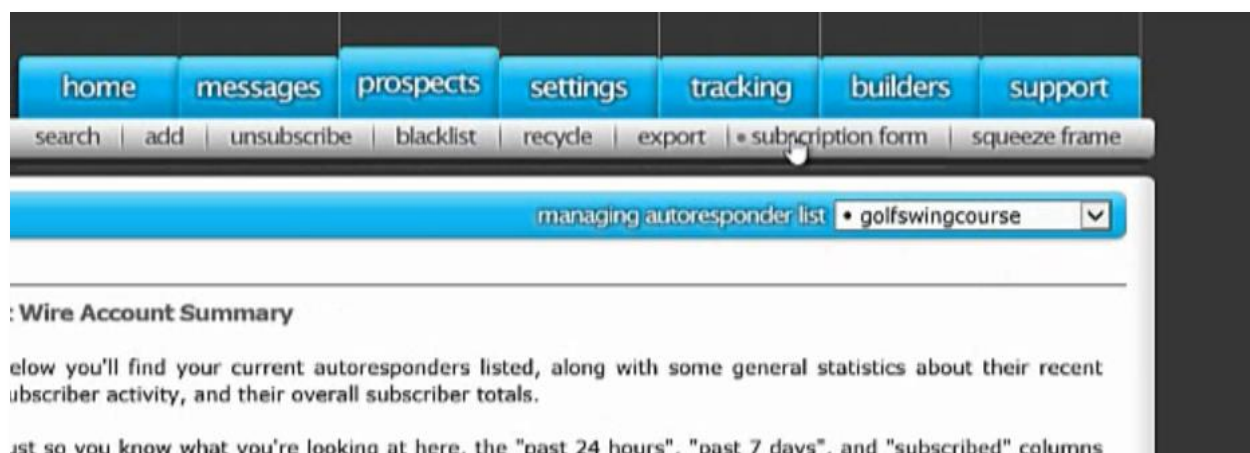

In addition to content, you can add in additional content. You can add About Us or contact information. You can also go to Gadgets and add a variety of them. You can add AdSense, HTML, etc.

To add a gadget, just click the plus sign next to it.

Next, you can plug in your opt in form. We will get it from www.listwire.com and login. Go to Choose Autoresponder then Prospects then Description Form.

Go to Get Code and get the Java script code.

Copy the code shown.

Form Code Close

To add this List Wire subscription form to your website, copy the javascript code below, and paste it anywhere into the body of your website.

<script type="text/javascript"
src="http://forms.listwire.com/js/12.js"></script>

The code below is the HTML code for the subscription form. If you are comfortable working with HTML, you can use the code below.

<center><table border="0" cellpadding="0" cellspacing="0" style="position: relative;
margin: 0px; padding: 0px;">
<tr><td align="center" valign="top" colspan="3">
<form action="http://www.listwire.com/subscribe.php" method="post">
<input type="hidden" name="bot_action" value="form_subscribe">
<input type="hidden" name="bot_track_code" value="">
<input type="hidden" name="bot_pass_standard" value="0">
<input type="hidden" name="bot_pass_custom" value="0">
<input type="hidden" name="bot_account" value="golfawingcourse">
<input type="hidden" name="bot_redirect" value="http://www.slideshare.net">
<input type="hidden" name="bot_web_form_id" value="77312">
<table width="380" border="0" cellpadding="0" cellspacing="0">
<tr><td colspan="3" valign="middle" style="padding:0px 0px 10px 0px;"><html
></html></td></tr>
<tr><td height="32" width="10%" align="left" valign="middle"> </td>

Paste that code into Blogger, and hit Save.

Now you can go into it to look at the blog and make sure it shows up accurately.

The screenshot shows a web form titled "Free Ebook" in the top left corner. The form consists of two input fields: "Name:" and "Email:", each followed by a rectangular text box. Below these fields is a "Submit" button. A horizontal line separates the form from the footer. In the center of the footer is the "listwire" logo, with the text "click here for your free autoresponder" underneath it. On the right side of the footer, there is an "Edit" button and a small icon of a hand pointing at a screen.

If it doesn't fit properly, you may want to go back to Listwire.com and create a new form that is smaller in size. You don't have to but it may look nicer. You can also select another type of form to use. They don't have to match. If you create a new one, it will generate a new code. That is what you copy and paste back to the Blogger.com form.

Now you have added a list building element to your website. It is only going to show up once per visit so that it won't SPAM people. That is one of the ways that you can add elements within the sections here through Add a Gadget. You can select where you want it to display. It can be the top, side, etc. You get the idea.

The screenshot shows a website with a dark grey background. At the top, the text "Improve Your Golf Score" is displayed in a large, white, sans-serif font. Below this, on the left side, is a section titled "How To Cure Golf Slice" in a smaller white font. Underneath this title, there is a paragraph of text in a very small font, followed by a sub-header "Top 3 Golf Slice Cures" and another paragraph. To the right of this text, a white pop-up form is centered. The form has a black border and contains the title "Grab Your Free Golf Improvement Ebook" in bold black text. Below the title are two input fields labeled "Name:" and "Email:". A "Submit" button is positioned below the email field. Under the button, the text "Your Information Is Safe" is displayed. At the bottom of the form, the "listtwine" logo is shown in a stylized font, with the text "click here for your free autoresponder" underneath it. A small "close" link is visible in the bottom right corner of the form. In the background, to the right of the pop-up, a sidebar is partially visible with a link titled "To Cure Golf Slice".
